

Institutional Aid Eligibility Requirements:

1. Simpson University asks that all students applying for institutional aid apply for other forms of grant-based aid available through federal and state programs. We ask that all students file a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid); California students should apply and meet the Cal Grant deadline and criteria.
2. Students may receive Simpson University grants and scholarships up to 100% of tuition when award qualifications are met.
3. Financial Aid Verification must be completed in a timely manner to receive any financial aid.
4. Institutional aid is applied directly to a student's account and is not transferable to a student other than the recipient.
5. Aid recipients must maintain full-time enrollment or the institutional, federal, and state financial aid will be adjusted accordingly. Students taking only part-time credits at Simpson University will have institutional aid prorated based on degree applicable part-time units. Students must have a minimum of 6 credits at Simpson University to receive prorated institutional aid.
6. Institutional aid is for the fall and spring semesters only (no institutional aid is awarded for summer sessions). Please contact Student Financial Services if you are considering summer enrollment.
7. Simpson University scholarships are available on a first-come, first-serve basis and are limited.
8. Institutional aid is coordinated and adjusted with other forms of aid and cannot exceed a student's cost of tuition, fees, room and board even when other aid has been awarded. If a student is a Cal Grant recipient, institutional aid cannot exceed the student's need (as defined by state regulations). Institutional aid may have to be reduced so that aid does not exceed these limits.
9. Students may participate in one semester (fall or spring) of international study abroad prior to completion of the bachelor degree and as approved by the Registrar's Office. Institutional aid will be applied at 50% of the student's renewable reward.
10. Students who are in default on the Title IV federal aid are not eligible for institutional aid.
11. Students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress in order to maintain eligibility for federal, state, and institutional financial aid.
